Call for Presentations

“Mileposts to Milestones” is the theme of this year’s 20th Anniversary of the GIS-T Symposium being held in Nashville, Tennessee. While emphasizing the evolution of GIS, it is aimed at understanding the many uses of geospatial technologies. We invite papers exploring all aspects of geo-spatial technologies, applications and tools relating to transportation industry.

What is GIS-T about?

The GIS-T Symposium is organized by the AASHTO GIS-T Task Force and identifies the opportunities and issues of applying GIS technology to the business of transportation agencies.

The GIS-T symposium provides a forum for transportation professionals from State, Federal, Municipal, Province and private sector agencies to develop relationships with other GIS-T managers and practitioners. GIS issues facing transportation professionals which are identified during the course of the symposium are reported on at the annual AASHTO IS Subcommittee meeting.

Who attends GIS-T?

- Transportation professionals who need to know how to better utilize GIS and related systems.
- Executives and managers concerned with management and institutional issues.
- Public and private Information Technology and GIS professionals responsible for implementing and maintaining GIS and related technologies.

2007 GIS-T Student Paper Contests

The contest is designed to encourage university students to develop solutions to current GIS-T issues. Contestants will be judged on their ability to develop and document useful, original research based on GIS-T issues and to relay their research results in a complete, clear, and well-referenced paper. The winners will present their papers at the 2007 GIS-T symposium.

To enter, submit your paper to: Cindy.Owings@maine.gov For contest details and rules, visit www.gis-t.org.

The contest deadline is December 1, 2006. You will be notified by January 12th, 2007.

We will be giving two graduate awards of $500 plus a round trip ticket (US Continental) to Nashville, Tennessee with two nights stay and one undergraduate award of $250 plus a round trip ticket (US Continental) to Nashville, Tennessee with two nights stay. The winners will also present their paper at the Student Paper session on Tuesday, March 27, 2007 and their presentations posted to the GIS-T website.

* Instructions

Proposals are encouraged that deal with completed projects, including lessons learned. If your proposal is based on a planned or incomplete project, state this clearly. Presenters will be given 30 minutes that should include 5-10 minutes for questions.

List only those co-presenters who will be present during the conference. If credit for contributions to the work need to be listed, do this in the presentation itself.

* Presentation Submittal

Fill out the GIS-T Presentation Submittal Form on the GIS-T web site (www.gis-t.org) and submit.

* Workshop Submittal

To organize a workshop at GIS-T 2007 send an email to ben.williams@fhwa.dot.gov with the title, a description of the topic of your proposed workshop up to two hundred words in length, and the name(s) of the workshop instructor(s). Workshops are 4 hours in length.

* Panel Submittal

Panels should address timely topics relevant to the theme of the conference. The panels will run in parallel with other sessions. They typically last 1.5 hours with 3-4 speakers. A panel proposal should include a description of the proposed panel topic, panel chairperson, and likely panel participants and an abstract indicating the content of the panel. Submit proposals directly to Jay Adams at jadams@odot.org

* Acceptance

Proposals accepted for the symposium must have a presenter. Co-presenter's are welcome, but both presenter and co-presenter will be required to pay a full registration fee.

Presentations that do not have a presenter or co-presenter registered by March 2, 2007 will be canceled and replaced.

No preference will be given to any presenters for particular conference days.

Preference will be given to proposals that fit this year's theme "Mileposts to Milestones".

Letters of acceptance and further instructions will be provided electronically.

All presentations will be posted on the Conference Web Site (www.gis-t.org) following the conference. They will need to be submitted in electronic format to the Symposium Moderator at the time of presentation.
